Anthropogenic Tropical Forests

Human–Nature Interfaces on the Plantation Frontier

Series: Advances in Asian Human-Environmental Research

- Elucidates human–nature interactions on a plantation frontier in Malaysian Borneo
- Presents transdisciplinary research on anthropogenic nature with synergy between the natural and social sciences
- Examines the relationship among global commodity chains, material cycles and food webs

The studies in this volume provide an ethnography of a plantation frontier in central Sarawak, Malaysian Borneo. Drawing on the expertise of both natural scientists and social scientists, the key focus is the process of commodification of nature that has turned the local landscape into anthropogenic tropical forests. Analysing the transformation of the space of mixed landscapes and multiethnic communities—driven by trade in forest products, logging and the cultivation of oil palm—the contributors explore the changing nature of the environment, multispecies interactions, and the metabolism between capitalism and nature. The project involved the collaboration of researchers specialising in anthropology, geography, Southeast Asian history, global history, area studies, political ecology, environmental economics, plant ecology, animal ecology, forest ecology, hydrology, ichthyology, geomorphology and life-cycle assessment. Collectively, the transdisciplinary research addresses a number of vital questions. How are material cycles and food webs altered as a result of large-scale land-use change? How have new commodity chains emerged while older ones have disappeared? What changes are associated with such shifts? What are the relationships among these three elements—commodity chains, material cycles and food webs? Attempts to answer these questions led the team to go beyond the dichotomy of society and nature as well as human and non-human. Rather, the research highlights complex relational entanglements of the two worlds, abruptly and forcibly connected by human-induced changes in an emergent and compelling resource frontier in maritime Southeast Asia.

About the authors

Noboru Ishikawa is a professor of anthropology at the Center for Southeast Asian Studies, Kyoto University, Japan. He has conducted fieldwork in Sarawak, Malaysian Borneo over the past two decades, exploring the construction of national space in the borderland, highland–lowland relations, commodification of natural resource and labour, and the relationship between nature and non-nature. His publications include: Between frontiers: nation and identity in a Southeast Asian borderland (2010), and the edited volumes Dislocating Nation-states: globalization in Asia and Africa (2005), Transborder governance of forests, rivers and seas (2010) and Flows and movements in Southeast Asia: new approaches to transnationalism (2011).

Ryoji Soda is a professor in geography at the Graduate School of Literature and Human Sciences, Osaka City University, Japan. He has conducted field research in Sarawak and other Asian countries focusing on human mobility of ethnic minorities. His recent interest is in human–nature interactions and environmental humanities. His publications include: People on the move: rural–urban interactions in Sarawak (2007); The diversity of small-scale oil palm cultivation in Sarawak, Malaysia. The Geographical Journal 182 (2015); and Culture and acceptance of disasters: supernatural factors as an explanation of riverbank erosion. Ngingit 9 (2017).

Contents

- 1 Commodification of Nature on the Plantation Frontier
Noboru Ishikawa and Ryoji Soda

Part I Landscape, Culture and History

- 2 Geomorphological Landscapes of Borneo and Riverine Society of the Kemena Catchment, Sarawak
Kuniyasu Mokudai, Ryoji Soda and Takuma Watakabe
- 3 Land-use Types along the Kemena River–Tubau–Lower Jelalong Region, Sarawak
Jason Hon and Hiromitsu Samejima
- 4 Trend Analysis of Rainfall Characteristics in the Kemena and Tatau River Basins, Sarawak
Osamu Kozan
- 5 Multiethnic Society of Northwest Borneo: An Ethnographic Analysis
Yumi Kato, Jayl Langub, Abdul Rashid Abdullah, Hiromitsu Samejima, Ryoji Soda, Motomitsu Uchibori, Katsumi Okuno and Noboru Ishikawa
- 6 Commodified Frontier: Jungle Produce Trade and Kemena Basin Society in History
Mayumi Ishikawa and Noboru Ishikawa
- 7 The History of Local Communities: Migration, Kin Relations and Ethnicity
Jayl Langub

Part II Inflection Points of Nature

- 8 Diversity of Medium- to Large-sized Ground-dwelling Mammals and Terrestrial Birds in Sarawak
Hiromitsu Samejima and Jason Hon
- 9 Species Composition and Use of Natural Salt Licks by Wildlife Inside a Production Forest Environment in Central Sarawak
Jason Hon, Shozo Shibata and Hiromitsu Samejima
- 10 Above-Ground Biomass and Tree Species Diversity in Anap Sustainable Development Unit, Sarawak

- Hiromitsu Samejima, Malcom Demies, Miyako Koizumi and Shogoro Fujiki
- 11 Influence of Herbicide Use in Oil Palm Plantations on Stream Water Chemistry in Sarawak
Naoko Tokuchi, Hiromitsu Samejima, Jason Hon and Keitaro Fukushima
- 12 Spatial Variations in Dissolved and Particulate Organic Carbon in the Kemena and Tatau Rivers, Sarawak
Keitaro Fukushima, Naoko Tokuchi, Hiromitsu Samejima, Jason Hon and Yuichi Kano
- 13 Stream Fish Biodiversity and the Effects of Plantations in the Bintulu Region, Sarawak
Yuichi Kano, Jason Hon, Mohd Khairulazman Sulaiman, Mitsuhiro Aizu, Koji Noshita and Hiromitsu Samejima

Part III Plantations as Social Complexes and Infrastructure

- 14 The Effects of Landscape and Livelihood Transitions on Hunting Activity in Sarawak
Yumi Kato and Hiromitsu Samejima
- 15 From River to Road? Changing Living Patterns and Land Use of Inland Indigenous Peoples
Ryoji Soda, Noboru Ishikawa and Yumi Kato
- 16 The Impact of RSPO Certification on Oil Palm Smallholdings in Sarawak
Yumi Kato and Ryoji Soda
- 17 The Autonomy and Sustainability of Small-scale Oil Palm Farming in Sarawak
Ryoji Soda and Yumi Kato

Part IV Commodification and Local Processes

- 18 The Bird's Nest Commodity Chain between Sarawak and China
Daniel Chew, Yu Xin, Ryoji Soda, Tetsu Ichikawa and Noboru Ishikawa
- 19 The Feeding Ecology of Edible Nest Swiftlets in a Modified Landscape in Sarawak
Motoko Fujita and Charles Leh
- 20 Swiftlet Farming: New Commodity Chains and Techniques
Haruka Suzuki, Tetsu Ichikawa, Logie Seman and Motoko Fujita
- 21 Current Status and Distribution of Communally Reserved Forests in a Human-modified Landscape in Bintulu, Sarawak
Yayoi Takeuchi, Ryoji Soda, Hiromitsu Samejima and Bibian Diway
- 22 Transitions in the Utilisation and Trade of Rattan in Sarawak: Past to Present, Local to Global
Yayoi Takeuchi, Atsushi Kobayashi and Bibian Diway
- 23 Oil Palm Plantations and Bezoar Stones: An Ethnographic Sketch of Human–Nature Interactions in Sarawak
Katsumi Okuno and Tetsu Ichikawa
- 24 Estate and Smallholding Oil Palm Production in Sarawak: A Comparison of Profitability and Greenhouse Gas Emissions
Fumikazu Ubukata and Yucho Sadamichi
- 25 Tropical Timber Trading from Southeast Asia to Japan
Hiromitsu Samejima

- 26 Certifying Borneo's Forest Landscape: Implementation Process of Forest Certification in Sarawak
Daisuke Naito and Noboru Ishikawa
- 27 Changing Patterns of Sarawak's Exports, c.1870–2013
Atsushi Kobayashi and Kaoru Sugihara

Part V Coda

- 28 Into a New Epoch: Capitalist Nature in the Plantationocene
Noboru Ishikawa
