

Worrying about the Next Pandemic (Despite the Assured Absence of Donald Trump)

Wing Thye Woo, Jeffrey Cheah Institute on Southeast Asia, Sunway University, Malaysia

This presentation will

- a. review Asia's experience with SARS (2003), H1N1 (2009), MERS (2012-2013), and Covid-19 (2020-2021)
- b. discuss several possible scenarios of the next pandemic; and
- c. propose a public policy agenda to prepare for the next pandemic

Wing Thye Woo is Research Professor at Sunway University in Kuala Lumpur where he heads the Jeffrey Cheah Institute on Southeast Asia and Jeffrey Sachs Center on Sustainable Development; and as Vice-President for Asia at the UN Sustainable Development Solutions Network (SDSN), he heads the SDSN-Asia office housed in Sunway University. He is Distinguished Professor Emeritus at University of California Davis, which privileged him to serve in 1985-2020. Wing Woo is currently studying the design of efficient, equitable pathways to achieving the Sustainable Development Goals with projects on Green Finance, Middle Income Trap, and Global Economic Architecture for the Multi-Polar World. He is an expert on the economies of China, Indonesia and Malaysia.